

QUESTION CARD

In your opinion, climate changes results in:

- a. an increase in the frequency and intensity of extreme weather events
- b. an increase in the mean global air temperature
- c. both answers are correct

QUESTION CARD

'100-year flood' means that:

- a. such flood occurred 100 years ago
- b. is a statistical term for a flood event that occurs every 100 years
- c. both answers are correct

QUESTION CARD

'500-year flood' means that:

- a. such flood occurred 500 years ago
- b. is a statistical term for a flood event that occurs every 500 years
- c. both answers are correct

QUESTION CARD

Storms in Central Europe usually occurred in the following months:

- a. I, II, III
- b. XI, XII
- c. V, VI, VII, VIII, IX

QUESTION CARD

Annual precipitation totals in Poland are:

- a. ca. 1500 mm
- b. ca. 300 mm
- c. ca. 600 mm

QUESTION CARD

If you have a garden near your house would you be able to organize a place for rainwater?

- a. Yes, there are various solutions, e.g. storing water in rain barrels, in ponds or draining the soil through an underground drainage system.
- b. No, as rainfall water should be directed into the sewer system.
- c. No, it is too complicated.

QUESTION CARD

Reasons for non-functioning drainage ditches are:

- a. garbage in the ditch (e.g. dumped by local residents)
- b. lack of maintenance (e.g. mowing plants)
- c. both answers are correct

QUESTION CARD

Do location and type of land use in a river basin have an impact on disastrous surface runoff after intensive precipitations?

- a. Yes, in steep areas (mountains, hills, slopes) that are additionally intensively built-up (buildings, streets, squares) rainfall water moves fast and with high energy towards lower located areas.
- b. No, because rainfall water infiltrates the ground independently of the terrain type.
- c. No, as no intensive precipitations occurs.

