1.2. Summary of the meeting

At the beginning of the meeting Mr. Blaz Jemensek, project manager at Prometni institut Ljubljana explained the role of Regional Advisory Board and its importance for project and for implementation further action and measures.

He presented also REIF project and studies that were made within the project and were a basis for the pilot in Central Slovenia Region (baseline studies, market potential studies, studies on bottlenecks).

During further discussion the participants were collecting ideas for the road map and new infrastructure and services. Key findings and proposals are below.

Key findings and proposals:

- Participants agreed that REIF project is a right step forward to improve rail infrastructure and services in region
- The infrastructure is not in perfect condition and the main challenge is to modernize the existing infrastructure and make better integration with other modes of transport
- The financing of measures is the biggest problem and it should be taken in to account also public financing (national, local, EU funds) for such rail investments - the benefits are also on national level (environmental benefits)
- Beside the rail infrastructure there is a lot of room for improving the services, such as: optimization of transport, better quality of rolling stocks, etc
- The measures discussed are important and it should be promoted also by the Ministry
